400 EGGS IN TWO YEARS IS NEW WISCONSIN RECORD

What can be done by good breeding to increase egg production in the flock is illustrated in two new records just completed by single comb White Leghorns on the Wisconsin Experiment Station farm. Fed the usual ration, one of these hens at the end of her second year of laying had produced 466 eggs; the other laid 464.

Both hens are from strains of high producers which have been bred up by J. G. Halpin, poultryman on the station farm, for 10 years. Not only were the dams high producers, but the cocks were from dams whose egg production were high.

The hen whose two-year record is 464 eggs laid last year 263 eggs, a slightly better record than that made the first year by the 466-egg hen. The best record made previous to this year by a Wisconsin Experiment station hen is 432 eggs.

Laundry Service!

We are surprised at, and grateful for, the results of our previous letters regarding our Family Wash Service. In this letter we will try to explain just how we handle your clothes after they are washed.

First, they are taken to our extractors where the water is removed, not by running through rollers, as is done at home with the old fashioned wringer which, you will admit, often tears and breaks buttons, but they are packed in a round basket of copper which revolves at a speed of twelve to fourteen hundred revolutions per minute. The water is forced out through the basket by centrifugal force without any strain on the goods.

The flat pieces are then ironed and dried by being put through our flat work ironer, a large machine with heavy padded rollers which will iron thin flat linen or heavy bed spreads equally as well. Your starched goods are starched and dried and all other garments are dried in a cylinder which revolves slowly, and as the hot air is forced through the goods they have the appearance and feel of being dried in the sun on a warm summer day.

Finally, they all go to the sorting room, where each washing is carefully checked and bundled ready for delivery to you.

This service costs you but eight cents per pound.

We will later tell you of our Dry Cleaning methods whereby we clean all garments that cannot be washed by water.

LADY FORESTERS ORGANIZE COURT IN POLISH CHURCH

Miss Anna Phelan of Chicago, high secretary of the Lady Foresters, aided the members of the Lady Foresters Court of St. Peter and Paul congregation, in the organization of a new court in St. Lawrence Catholic church on the west side Sunday afternoon. The new court opens its career with twenty-two members. The officers for the coming year were elected shortly after the organization and installed that afternoon. They are:

Chief Ranger, Anna Latus.
Vice Chief Ranger, Agnes Morzin.
Recording secretary, Emily Brosz.
Financial secretary, Julia Nelbour.
Treasurer, Margaret Pavolowski.
Josephine Kobza and Anna Zabawa.
Conductors, Josephine, Yeske, Mary Kostuslak.
Taste Sentinel, Irene Cepress.
Outside Sentinel, Celia Kubiak.
A banquet followed at which Rev. Ciszewski talked on the work of the Lady Foresters and Miss Phelan spoke on fraternalism. The members of St. Peter and Paul Court were guests of honor at the affair.
On Monday night the members of the old court entertained the members of the new organization at Catholic Societies hall. A program was rendered, Mrs. C. J. Kandy and Mrs. Emily Kozak entertaining with vocal solo. Miss Phelan rendered a piano solo. The evening was spent in dancing, following which refreshments were served.

ESTABLISH PRECEDENT FOR GETTING WALKS STRAIGHT

People who have pet shade trees they wish to protect when the city begins to lay sidewalks along the property are going to be doomed to disappointment in the future according to a decision made by the City Fathers at their meeting Tuesday night when they decided to discontinue the practice of laying the walks to suit the property owners. In the future, the aldermen decided, the walks will be laid along the lines that are laid out by the City Engineer and shade trees will be planted where they will not interfere with the walk.

The matter brought out a heated debate when the city held out the payment of the sidewalk on Chestnut street which was laid by the Peterson Construction Co. Half of the walk, according to the City officials, was laid right, but another half was laid five feet out of line to save some shade trees in front of the property. Property owners in that section appeared before the council and stated that they did not care if the walk remained where it was but wanted some positive guarantee that it would not be moved onto the proper line in a few years at their expense.
Mr. Peterson appeared before the council and stated that he had been instructed by Ald. Link to move it out five feet, while Ald. Link, who is Chm. of the Sidewalk Committee, denied this and stated that he never had any power to change any walk nor has any desire to. Several Aldermen expressed their desire to have the walks on the line in the future and decided to allow the bill as Mr. Peterson thought that he was following proper instructions, but the walk will be straightened next spring.

CONSOLIDATED WINS LAND FLOODING CASE AT POINT

A decision amounting to almost a complete victory for the defense was rendered by the jury in circuit court here in the case of Matt Hemmle against the Consolidated Water Power and Paper Company.

The action involved the question of damage from backwater alleged to have been done to land in the town of Plover, owned by the plaintiff, as a result of the raising by the defendant company of the head of water maintained at its Biron dam in the Wisconsin river in January, 1916. The jury decided that the only damage sustained by the plaintiff was on lot three, section 27, township 23 north of range seven and assessed this damage at $300. Answering the question of how many acres would be flooded, if any, in the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 27, township 23 north of range seven east of the head of the dam, the jury declared no part of this land would be flooded. The jury held, however, that if the dam is raised to 21 feet it will result in the flooding of 43 3-10 acres of lot three on section 27, and it estimated the present market value of the land at $35 an acre.

Mr. Hemmle sued for $14,689, which included a claim for $10,000 for the loss of a dam site below what was known as Brawley Rapids. He alleged that the raising of the Biron dam flooded out these rapids—Stevens Point Journal.

BOUGHT ARMY STOCK.

R. F. Johnson spent several days in St. Paul this week buying up a carload of the army stock which the government was selling thru the post offices in the middle west. Mr. Johnson states that they will place the goods in a separate department in the store and sell it at the prices at which the government advertised it. It is stated that there are some remarkable bargains in the goods and that at the present price of commodities it will probably be some time before another bargain list similar to the one being offered is put up to the public.

BANKERS WILL MEET.

The Wood County Bankers Association will meet at the Elks Club Friday evening, reviving this association, which has been practically inactive for the past couple of years. D. B. Phillee of this city is president of the association.

FUEL SCARCE; MORE RESTRICTIONS SEEN

Selling coal in half ton lots, requiring that every one that could possibly burn wood instead of coal do so, and placing other limitations on the scanty supply on hand, City Fuel Administrator Thompson closed the lid on the coal supply the first of the week. The day's state that they are practically out, the railroads have been given to the Bostons Coal company, and other dealers are finding it practically impossible to get shipments from the mines or the lake shore where they have been securing their coal.

While there will be no suffering in Grand Rapids, there may be some trouble during the next two weeks in giving every one the amount of coal they desire. The city administrator has already found it necessary to turn down many applications for permits to buy coal from people who were able to burn wood in their homes. "Burn wood" is the slogan that is being given out from the office of the administrator, and while many are loath to do so they are unable to secure coal from any of the dealers without a permit.

The farmers are bringing in a good deal of wood. Mr. Thompson stated Tuesday, and are getting a good price for it on the market square. He stated that a number have come to him asking where they should sell their wood and that he had always directed them to the market square, and that none of them had returned on account of not being able to dispose of their wood.

MAY KEEP MARSHFIELD ROAD OPEN THIS WINTER

A proposition which County Highway Commissioner Amundson has under consideration at this time may mean the keeping of the main road between this city and Marshfield open to traffic throughout the winter. Mr. Amundson is considering putting good sized snow plows on the front of the county trucks, and after each snow storm putting them over the road to Marshfield and back to this city, plowing out a road wide enough to twenty feet wide.

able doctors and others who wish to travel by car into the country are permitted to use their cars all winter, and would also greatly aid anyone who has to travel by sleigh. At the present time it is almost impossible to travel by car in the country and the immense amount of money Wood county people have tied up in automobiles is not earning anything. There is a law at the present time requiring towns to keep their roads open, but it is pretty generally disregarded. They keep them in condition that the mail carrier can get thru and the matter is dropped there. If the plan should be successful it might be extended to some of the side roads later until all the roads in the county could be kept open the entire year. There seems to be little trouble in getting over the concrete roads, as the road between this city and Nekosia is used regularly, as well as the practically all concrete road traveled both by trucks and passenger cars. It may be that when the main roads are all paved it will be an easier matter to keep them open.

MAX LENGTHEN BRIDGE TO COMPLY WITH STATE LAW

C. A. Halbert, a representative of the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, was in the city Wednesday conferring with representatives of the Consolidated and the Wisconsin Highway Commission in regard to the new bridge across the Wisconsin river here. The Railway Commission has control of the river and it seems that in order to get in the number of piers that are desired, it is necessary to extend the bridge a little way onto the present shore on the west side. The piers hinder the passage of the water and according to the Commission's rulings there must be a certain space allowed for the water to travel.

While here F. F. Mengel of the Wis. Highway Commission brought the matter up to Mr. Halbert concerning the proposed federal aid project on the Stevens Point-Jackson City road. In order to keep the road open during the winter the grade will have to be raised four or five feet. This may endanger the city of Stevens Point, Mr. Mengel states, as it may direct the water from the river thru the business district during flood periods. At the present time the water crosses the road when high, flowing overland into Mill Creek, and then back into the river.

With the grade raised this excess water may flow thru the city, as the Mill Creek would be closed. There will probably be a hearing called on the matter within a short time to determine what shall be done.

WHITMAN TO SEND ROCK.

In their session last week the county highway committee appointed Seth Whitman of Sigel a committee of one to send samples of rock to Madison to see if they were suitable for use in concrete road construction. There is a considerable quantity of field rock and stone quarry rock that could be used by the road builders but will have to be submitted to test this year if it is to be used, before it is determined whether or not it will stand up. Its use would mean that fields that are now strewn with rock might be cleaned up and the rock sold at a profit.

BILL AND SKATING RINK ARE READY FOR THE KIDS

The municipal skating bill, established by closing Drake street to traffic, has been opened this week and is stated to be in excellent condition. The bill was closed Monday by the young people, assisted by the city employees, who furnished water from a hydrant. The fact that several hundred have been skating since that time indicates that it is in good shape. The municipal ice skating rink located at the Lincoln school was completed on that day and the men experienced some trouble in getting the west side rink in shape. The west side rink is near the Consolidated wood yards in the large vacant block between Second and Third avenues. It is expected that it will be ready within a few days, however, Engineer Thompson states. The mild weather of the past two weeks is blamed largely by the engineer for the trouble in getting this west side rink in shape.

FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS BY SELLING STAMPS

Headed by Miss Agnes Breen as chairman, a committee composed of the teachers of the public schools of the city have launched their campaign for the selling of Christmas seals in Grand Rapids. The preliminary campaign, carried thru the business section last Saturday and among the school children the day previous, resulted in raising more than $180 for the fight against the health conditions around the state. Books were sold at the Johnson & Hill's, Wyse's, Wood County Drug Store and Weisels, thru the day Saturday, customers being given an opportunity to purchase the seals if they desired. The result was that about fifty dollars worth of stamps were sold on that day.

The campaign will be extended to every home in Grand Rapids, the committee members state, and should they fail to carry the quota the work will be carried on thru the Christmas vacation. Clubs, lodges, societies and public spirited organizations in the city will be given an opportunity to aid the campaign collectively when they receive communications from the local headquarters asking their assistance.

The fact that half the funds raised in this city will be used for local health purposes places a special need for boosting the sale of stamps this year. The results that have been accomplished by the organization since it was established in 1908 have been very gratifying to the members. The association has been active in disseminating information concerning tuberculosis by lectures, exhibits, and publications. Promoting sanitation, demonstrating health work, training nurses, promoting clinics and health crusades, providing hot and cold baths for children and securing aid for tubercular soldiers. During the war the association secured the names of more than 2,900 men who were rejected from the service due to tuberculosis. They state that there are an equal number of women of the same age afflicted with the disease and the importance of this Red Cross Christmas seal drive can not be over estimated.

Fifteen years ago there was not an institution in the state to which any person suffering from tuberculosis could be sent for treatment; there was no public health nurse, no full time health officer and but little in the way of health legislation. As a result of the anti-tuberculosis campaign there is now one state sanatorium and an appropriation for another; a state camp for convalescent consumptives; eleven county sanatoria and four others under way; three municipal sanatoria, and three philanthropic and one private sanatoria. Schools, a steady decrease in the death rate from tuberculosis, and innumerable public health nurses have resulted from the organization of this association which has carried on the fight against tuberculosis. The Red Cross seals aid in this fight and aid in bettering local health conditions as well.

DEMONSTRATED HIS MACHINE

Ben Hansen has returned from the Wisconsin Potato Growers Convention which was held in Milwaukee last week, where he was demonstrating the Boggs Potato Grader operated by electrical power. Mr. Hansen, a resident of this city, is a dealer in moving pictures of the grader in operation and as the picture was put on the screen Mr. Hansen explained the movements of the grader to the potato growers. The attendance at the show was very good this year. Mr. Hansen states, and both the individual and county displays were the best that have been exhibited at any of the shows ever held by this association. While in Milwaukee Mr. Hansen booked several orders for his machine.

Fire was discovered in a barn immediately in the rear of the paper company's hotel at Nekosia Tuesday afternoon, the flames damaging the building to the extent of about $300 before they could be controlled. The fire company was delayed in their work by a frozen hydrant. They were aided by the paper company's fire department.

DALY MUSIC CO. TO ERECT NEW STORE

The Daly Music Co. has plans complete for the erection of a new store building for their business. Mrs. Daly has closed the deal for the purchase of the Rossier lot opposite the Dixon Hotel between the Standard Oil filling station and the Taylor & Scott building, on which the new store will be erected next spring. The lot has a frontage of 66 feet on Grand avenue and a depth of 132 feet. A two-story building erected especially for the needs of their present business and for the addition of a new jewelry store, which they will run in connection with the new store, will make it one of the attractive business places in the city. Extensive display windows, special demonstration rooms, and other features will be embodied in the new structure. A. F. Billmyre is drawing the plans for the new building.

Constructed of brick and concrete, the building will be two stories in height and embody an apartment on the second floor, Mrs. Daly will be living in the new store. The first floor will house the business section, divided in such a manner that there will be separate demonstration rooms for each line of goods they carry. The phonographs will have their department, the pianos a department, the gift shop a department and the new jewelry store a department. There will be large display windows on Grand avenue and on the play window in the west end of the building, facing the standard Oil filling station. This area between the filling station and the new Daly store will be parked by the Standard Oil Company next year and will make attractive surroundings for both buildings. The size of the new building will be at least 30x80, Mrs. Daly states. That will leave another lot about the same size next to the Daly store which will probably be sold.

The new jewelry department will be in charge of Francis Daly, who has had charge of the phonograph department of the business for some time past. Mr. Daly expects to leave the first of the year for the city where he will take a thorough course in watch repairing and general jewelry work, and will be ready to open up the department by the time the new store is completed on Grand Avenue. He will probably handle the phonographs in addition to the jewelry work. Miss Anna Daly, who recently opened the Gift Shop in connection with the present store, and who has been very successful in the new venture, will have even a larger and more complete Gift Shop in the new store. Mrs. Daly will remain in charge of the piano department, probably to be assisted later by Glenn Daly, who will work into the business.

Mrs. Daly states that the Daly Music company has been in operation in Grand Rapids since 1886, when it was established by her husband, who came to Wisconsin from the east where he had been in the piano business. They took the Cable line agency at that time and have represented that firm here ever since. Upon Mrs. Daly's death in 1903 Mrs. Daly took over the business and has been very successful. Up until last spring the business was conducted from the store square with a load of wood remember that he worked hard to cut it and he faced the cold to haul it. Give him a chance.

CRANBERRY MEN BUY MORE LAND NEAR BIRON MARSH

Deals completed during the past week brought to Guy Nash, an agent for the large cranberry bog proposition north of Biron, into possession of a strip of land across the McGrath farm to the river, and another strip of land adjacent to their marsh formerly owned by Charles Kern. The land was purchased by the cranberry men to gain access to the river across the McGrath farm, while the Kern land was bought to secure a high level of sand for the bog.

For starting a bog and the sand on the Kern place is stated to be especially good for the purpose for which it will be used. The cold weather has made it impossible to do any of the work that was contemplated for this winter up to the present time, it even being too cold to do some surveying necessary there. Work will be started, however, as soon as the weather moderates sufficiently.

SPOKE AT ROTARY CLUB.

Rev. Noel J. Breed was the principal speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon held Wednesday noon when he held of the trip to the district meeting of the Rotary Clubs held at Green Bay last Thursday. Mr. Breed spoke of the splendid address given there by B. F. Harris, of Champaign, Ill., a well known farmer and banker of that city. The International secretary of the Boys' Work department of the Rotary Club spoke of the work that can be accomplished in regard to the boys, and gave some very good suggestions. A general survey of the field of boys in a city was suggested in order that they might do something for every boy. He spoke very highly of the Boy Scout movement and urged its support. Mr. Breed stated, Mr. Breed took a special effort last Sunday to get out all the sleighs and bobs in town and forming a procession, letting the children hook their sleds on and giving them a good afternoon's ride. The matter was the outgrowth of a reprimand received by some of the children from the authorities for the practice of "hooking" bobs.

WILL HAVE PENNEY STORE ON EAST SIDE IN SPRING

H. W. Priess, representing the C. J. Penney Chain Stores corporation, of New York, signed a lease with J. E. Daly on Friday for the building on the corner of Second and Oak streets, now occupied by the C. E. Krause saloon. The lease was dated March 1st and as it will take about a month after that to get things in shape it is expected that the store will be opened here early in April. The leases were forwarded Friday to the main office of the concern in New York City where they will be approved before the deal is actually closed here. The Penney stores are operated in many cities all over the country, it being the intention of the company to open a store at Marshfield in the near future and in other Wisconsin cities. Mr. Priess stated to S. W. Howard, while here Friday that the company dealt in ladies and men's popular priced clothing and the only article that they might conflict with the Howard store was in Handkerchiefs.

SAYS $6 PER CORD NOT A FAIR PRICE

Walter Cramer, one of the well known farmers of the town of Rudolph, writes the following letter to the Tribune in answer to an article appearing in last week's issue of the Tribune on the fuel situation. The letter may enlighten many city people to why wood costs more than it used to and why the farmers are asking a price that may even exceed the expectations of the local people when they buy from the farmers. The letter says:

To the Grand Rapids Tribune:
Gentlemen: I see in the last issue of the Tribune that the fuel administrators are making special appeals to the farmers of the community to bring in their wood. And they agree that $6 is a fair price for a cord of four foot wood, maple and oak. But we farmers do not agree with their price. There is no farmer that can sell his wood for $6.00 a cord and make days wages out of it. Two men can cut about two cords of wood in a day, and that keeps them moving. The man wants $3.00 a day and board, and if you have to haul the wood from six to eight miles you can only make one trip a day, so you see it would take two days to haul two cords of wood. I can't see where there is any money in it at $6.00 a cord. We farmers at Rudolph can't see the joke.

We are willing to help the fuel situation and we are going to help it, but we don't want any one who never cut a cord of wood in his life to try to tell us what a fair price is. Those days are past when the fellow who can't cut a cord of wood can tell the farmer what a fair price is. We know what and when to sell and if they offer us a fair price for what we produce you will see us Johnnie on the spot. I am going to have my wood cut in 16 inch lengths the way most of us farmers do. And what I call a fair price for a cut cord of wood is $4.00 for mixed hardwood and $5.00 for maple and oak. I think the city could not sell it any cheaper than that if they sold at cost price. When you see a farmer on the market square with a load of wood remember that he worked hard to cut it and he faced the cold to haul it. Give him a chance.

PASSENGER TRAINS BACK ON SCHEDULE

Passenger train service resumed a normal aspect again this week when several trains which were taken from schedules last Tuesday are resumed today and Friday. The different roads from this city received notice from their main offices on Monday morning to the effect that these trains would be resumed this week and the former schedules would go into effect.

The St. Paul road trains arriving here at 5:18 A. M. from Milwaukee and Chicago and the evening train arriving here at 9:25 from the north will be resumed on Friday while the Sunday trains arriving here from the south at 11:25 and from the north at 9:25 will be resumed on Sunday. The city suffered one Sunday without trains and due to the deep snow were unable to get the Sunday papers from Stevens Point as expected.

The morning train to Green Bay was resumed today, while the evening train from that city to Grand Rapids, arriving here at 7:55, was also put back on the schedule. The Soo line as far as this city was concerned had not been hit by the new schedule, the morning and afternoon trains to Marshfield having been run in spite of the coal shortage.

Tuesday the officials of the Northwestern road in this city were notified that the two trains which were taken off their schedule would be returned today, the morning and afternoon trains both going on today. With the return of the Northwestern trains the schedule returns to the old routine.

WILL ENLARGE NEKOOSA STORE

T. P. Peerenboom, who operates a Cash and Carry store in Nekosia as well as in this city, has announced his intention of extending his business in the paper mill town down river and of enlarging his store.

Peerenboom will put in a line of staple dry goods, shoes and overalls, and is getting in some additional shelving to handle the new lines. He states that he will be enabled to enlarge his store down there if the business demands it. Mr. Peerenboom started the store in Nekosia after the local store had been in operation for some time and while there has been a strike on there the business has thrived very well. The new lines will handle some of the business which they were unable to take care of previous to this.

WILL RETURN FROM NORTH.

Mr. Mellicke stated that his mother, who was suffering as much as she was previous to his arrival. The morning he wrote they were enjoying a temperature of 30 degrees below zero, which would indicate that they are having some real Wisconsin weather in Canada this winter.

JOHN ANSWERS
BILL'S LETTER

Hillyview Dairy Farm,
Rudolph, Wis., December 8, 1919
Dear Brother Bill:

I received your letter in which you advised me to stay at home with Dad and Mother here on the farm, and I have been wanting to answer, but you will excuse my delay when you know that I am going to stay at home.

We have been right busy finishing up our fall work, and now that we are through we can live like real human beings this winter. Mr.
Bron, our plumber has finished his work here the past month and our new Mitchell stanchions and the watering system are all ready for use.
Gee! but we've got a dandy plant.
No overhead tank system like the
other farmers around here have.
Our water is supplied right from the tank under pressure. Mr. Bron says it's the "KEWANEE" way. It surely works slick. By the best part of it is that I don't have to carry any more water to those thirsty cows.
Gosh, I'm glad.

I've got a secret that I won't going to tell you about till you come home and see it yourself, but I know you'll want me to death if I don't tell so I decided to tell. Dad had Mr. Bron install a complete plumbing system
and a sewage disposal plant at the house. The plumbing consists of a bath room for all of us and a sink and laundry tub for Mother. Everything is supplied with hot and cold water under pressure from the same system as the barn is supplied. Ge-Mother is tickled cause she don't have to make any more trips to the pump, and I am too cause I don't have to haul water any more for washings and you know, Saturday nights Just jump into the nice white tub and take a real bath.
Didn't know you could feel so good after it. Dad says he feels like a younger now. Like it! Guess we do.

Your old friends Stub Stanley and Jim White came over a spell yesterday and they both said that they were going to make their dad fix up like our place next year. Dad
just figured up that he got $12.00
more on his milk check this time.
He says I must of forgot to water
a few cows before we had our drinking cups put in.

Well Bill, we all hope to see you at Christmas time and then you can take in the sights here and have a good visit. Mother says she thinks you'll stay here too after you see our layout cause there's no more water hauling to do.
Your grateful brother,
Johnny.

"We make your life worth living on the farm."

HANSEN HAS HIGH TAXES.

The Vesper State Center states that the taxes in the town of Hanson will be unusually high this year, which is strictly in accord with the reports from every other community in the state. The Vesper paper says:

"Taxes in the town of Hanson will be considerably higher according to Town Clerk Wm. Rhart who is about to get out the next tax roll. While all the items to make up the tax budget are not in his hands, yet he estimates that the tax receipts will show an increase of upward of 80 per cent over last year. He estimates
the tax rate to be close to 4 per cent on the assessed valuation. Many additional items go to make up this increase such as the soldiers bonus, soldier educational bonus, new bridge at Grand Rapids, added to this is the fact that the town of Hanson has $1500 to pay on the new Hemlock Creek bridge this year and a thousand dollars is due on the tractor. Of course the high prices of labor and supplies that the town has had to buy also enters into this increase. The tax roll will be ready to deliver to the town treasurer by the first of the year.

before, $2.00 per year.

TAKES MEXICO FROM SENATE

President's Rebuke Halts Break With Sister Republic of the South.

FALL RESOLUTION ASSAILED

All Action Abandoned by the Committee When the President Declares Decision Belongs to Him Under Constitution.

Washington, Dec. 10.—The case of an ancient Consul Agent William O. Jenkins has been transferred to the Mexican federal supreme court from the Puebla state circuit court, the state department was advised by the embassy at Mexico City.

Washington, Dec. 10.—President Wilson would have "gravely concerned to see any such resolution" pass the congress, he wrote Senator Fall in regard to the Fall resolution requesting the president to sever diplomatic relations with the Carranza government.

When the president's letter was received, Senator Lodge, chairman of the foreign relations committee, called Senator Fall and Senator Brandegee (Rep.) of Connecticut of the committee into conference, and in a few minutes announced that no further action was to be taken.

"It would constitute a reversal of our constitutional practice which might lead to very grave confusion in regard to the guidance of our foreign affairs," the president wrote.

The president expressed confidence that he had the support of every competent constitutional authority in the statement that the direction of the government's foreign affairs was assigned by the Constitution to the chief executive and to him alone.

The president's letter to Senator Fall follows:

"Thank you very much for your kind promptness in complying with my request that you send me a copy of the memorandum report of the subcommittee on foreign affairs."

"I shall examine it with the greatest interest and care. What you told me of the investigation on Friday last prepared me to find in it a matter of the greatest importance."

"You ask an indication of my desire with regard to the pending resolution to which you and Senator Hitchcock called my attention on Friday, and I am glad to reply with the utmost frankness that I should be greatly concerned to see any such resolution pass the congress. It would constitute a reversal of our constitutional practice which might lead to very grave confusion in regard to the guidance of our foreign affairs."

"I am confident that I am supported by every competent constitutional authority in the statement that the initiative in directing the relations of our government with foreign governments is assigned by the Constitution to the executive, and to the executive only."

"Only one of the two houses of congress is associated with the president by the Constitution in an advisory capacity and the advice of the senate is provided for only when sought by the executive in regard to explicit agreements with foreign governments and the appointment of the diplomatic representatives who are to speak for this government at foreign capitals."

"The only safe course, I am confident, is to adhere to the prescribed method of the Constitution. We might go very far afield if we departed from it."

"I am very much obliged to you for having given me the opportunity to express this opinion."

"WOODROW WILSON."

"Hon. Albert B. Fall, United States Senate."

Washington, Dec. 8.—President Wilson reserved judgment on the Mexican situation until he could examine evidence submitted by Senator Brandegee, of New Mexico, and the senator has since his chairmen of the United States had distributed "red" propaganda in the United States.

On his return to the capital, Senator Fall conferred with many Republican senators, telling them that mentally President Wilson was capable of handling any question coming before him, and that physically he was in better condition than the senator had expected to find him.

Mrs. Wilson was present at the conference, which was held in the president's sick room. Mr. Wilson being propped up in bed. Senator Hitchcock said the president seemed in better health than when he last saw him, more than two weeks ago. His face was fuller, the senator said, and his general condition much improved.

RUSS REDS BACK OF PLOT IN U. S.

New York Investigation Shows Radicalism Due to Organized Campaign.

IS NOT CAUSED BY UNREST

Three Big Groups of Bolsheviks Have Been Distributing Propaganda Throughout Nation—Advocate Overthrow of Government.

New York, Dec. 11.—Radical agitation in this country with its resultant social unrest is not due to economic conditions, but to an organized, artificially stimulated movement under the inspiration of the Russian soviet government.

This opinion will be submitted to the New York legislature in an exhaustive report by the joint legislative committee, which has been investigating activities here since its organization last May. It was learned.

These big groups of the radical element have been supplying the forces for wholesale dissemination of bolshevik propaganda throughout the length and breadth of the land, the report will assert. The anarchist group, including the Union of Russian Workers and other organizations; the syndicalist group, the main body of which are the Industrial Workers of the World; and the communist party, including the Communist Party of America and the Communist Labor party.

In each of these groups the overthrow of government by illegal means, including violence, is the weapon urged upon the masses, the report will state.

New York city is one of the big headquarters for the organized movement, according to the report, with Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and virtually every industrial center from the Atlantic to the Pacific harboring a headquarters for the radical campaign.

In the six months of the committee's active investigation it searched practically every nook and cranny in Greater New York, where radicalism extending to all sections of the country had its nest. Hundreds of arrests have been made on information furnished by the committee.

The first conviction for criminal anarchy in the United States is claimed for New York on information furnished by it on which Carl Plavie and Gust Alonen, publishers of a Finnish radical newspaper here, are serving from four to eight years in Sing Sing. (The 60-cell) Chicago anarchists arrested in the Haymarket riots there 33 years ago were convicted of murder, and not anarchy.)

Special inquiry was directed at the foreign language and radical press in New York. Of 40 such newspapers it was found that only two were self-supporting, the committee report will declare. Many of the indictments for criminal anarchy have been returned on evidence found in the columns of these publications.

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 11.—Federico Yuhlio, leader of the bandits who captured and held for ransom United States Consul William O. Jenkins, surrendered to the federal general, Pablo Gonzalez at Puebla, according to a reliable report from Mexico City.

Yuhlio, according to the report, with his staff and 500 men, marched into Puebla under the white flag. Fifty pesos were given to each of the officers of the bandit forces "for immediate expenses" and the men received 20 pesos each. The whole force was then stripped of arms and ammunition and marched to the nearby town of Atlix where they are now quartered in the town hall.

CAVE MAN COURTSHIP

MUST ADD TO TAX NEW U. S. FUEL RULES

U. S. TO EXPEND $5,249,470,031 IN FISCAL YEAR.

Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee Submits Estimates to That Body.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Omissions in submitted estimates for the coming fiscal year being the proposed expenditures of the government up to $5,249,470,031 instead of $4,885,400,000; Representative Good (Rep.) Iowa, chairman of the appropriations committee, told the house.

"If this congress shall appropriate more than $4,000,000,000 for the expenses of the government for the next fiscal year, over and above the necessary appropriation for the United States railroad administration," declared Mr. Good, "it will fall short of its obligations to the taxpayers of the country."

Items omitted from the estimates, Mr. Good said, included $78,000,000 for road construction, already authorized; $150,000,000 for redemption of War Savings certificates, reserve notes and miscellaneous public debts, proposed by Secretary Glass in his report; $30,760,000 to continue the $240 annual bonus to government workers; $40,000,000 for salary increases of post-office employees; $35,000,000 for supplemental estimates, and $50,000,000 for deficiencies.

The deficit at July, 1921, Mr. Good continued, could be estimated at $2,308,508,574, to which $500,000,000 should be added as the working balance needed by the treasury. Bonuses to discharged service men, increased pension measures, higher pay for army and navy officers, or retirement for government workers "should be considered only with respect to the condition of the treasury," Mr. Good said.

Administrator Says Regulations Will Conting, Several Weeks Even If Strike Is Settled.

Washington, Dec. 9.—On the eve of the expected strike settlement under peace terms proposed by President Wilson, the railroad administration, empowered by Fuel Administrator Garfield with authority to restrict coal consumption, issued orders more drastic than any which prevailed during the war.

With certain limited exceptions, the following industrial conditions will prevail throughout the nation, the orders to be effective immediately:

Manufacturing plants will be furnished coal sufficient for operation three days a week only.

All stores may be lighted for six hours a day only.

All office buildings must cut off lights not later than 4 p. m.

Cabarets must be dark after 11 p. m.

Ornamental and advertising lighting is prohibited.

Electric railroad schedules must be curtailed.

Street car service must be cut to the bone, and no car must be heated during rush hours.

The order was issued, notwithstanding the anticipated settlement of the strike, to assist the country in recuperating from the loss of 35,000,000 tons in coal production for which the strike was responsible.

Officials pointed out that settlement of the strike cannot bring production back to normal for several weeks and that further conservation is absolutely necessary.

PLEA FOR MORE PRODUCTION

Concluding Remarks of Secretary of Labor Wilson's Annual Report Are of Vital Interest.

Washington, Dec. 10.—In the concluding paragraphs of the annual report of Secretary of Labor Wilson, made public today, are to be found some remarks that should be read with interest and profit by people of all classes. Commenting on the existing problems of wages and cost of living, he says:

"There are, but two ways by which the general standard of living can be improved. One is by increased productivity, making more material available for wages. The other is by taking the means of increased compensations out of the pockets of the employer. If wages are increased and profits remain the same the burden is passed on to the consuming public in the form of an increased cost of living and comes back to the wage worker himself. No portion of the profits of the employers unless there is profiteering."

"And what gives the opportunity for profiteering? The very conditions that we are confronted with today—the destructive agencies of war, the disarrangement of industry and commerce, and the unrest and high nervous tension of our people, rendered whole sale of supply compared with demand. The whole world is interested in returning to the highest productive efficiency, having due regard to the health, safety and opportunities for rest, recreation and improvement of those who toil. The more productive we are the sooner we shall abolish opportunities for profiteering."

STUDENT WRITES REVIEW OF WIS. BUSINESS BOOK

Raymond Roy, a senior at the Lincoln high school, has written a review on Prof. Chas. McCarthy's book "The Wisconsin Idea," one of the new books at the T. B. Scott Public Library. In speaking of the book, Mr. Roy says:

"In these days of great development of our economic system, it is interesting and instructive to read a book which sets forth clearly the new attitude of our legislative bodies toward business.

"Such a book is 'The Wisconsin Idea,' by Chas. McCarthy. Prof. John A. Hobson's 'Evolution of Modern Capitalism' tells how modern business came to be, Henry D. Lloyd in 'Wealth Against Commonwealth' describes some of the objectionable sides of business, but Mr. McCarthy shows how a great commonwealth thru its legislature directs business away from these evils. He describes to us the legislation which makes Wisconsin the most progressive state in the Union as well as one of the most prosperous ones. Besides economic legislation, electoral and governmental changes, and educational legislation are given considerable space. The whole book is filled with the spirit of the 'new individualism' of Wisconsin."

HAD GOOD CHECKS.

Checks coming to the postal employees in this city this month have been the biggest ever paid in the history of the office, in all probability, running as high as $215 for the rural carriers. The big checks this month were due to the fact that the back pay from July 1st which was included in the recent advance, was placed on the checks this month.

A Christmas Generation

By Lindsay Benison

COPYRIGHT BY W.G. CHAPMAN

LONG about two thousand years ago a little child came into this world through a stable. Probably stables weren't very clean and sweet two thousand years ago. But the things that Little Child brought to the world were so dear and beautiful and good that most of us have come into the way of thinking that his memory and ever-living presence and influence are exclusively the property and the privileges of the righteous, of those who abide in ways and places which are clean.

But it is nevertheless true that the soft tug of the Little Child's baby hands is felt today by folks who place far more deplorable than ever was that Nazareth stable. Wherever:

Cowles and Roberts watched the waiter set down the glasses and turn away. Then they laughed, each at the other, but without glees. "Bobs," said Cowles, "you don't seem to yearn for your medicine."

"No, Charley," sneered Roberts, "and I don't observe an absorbent haste on your part. What do you suppose is the matter with us?" "We're 'frail,' Bobs," said Cowles, "that's what's the matter with us. We're 'frail.' 'Frail' of starting in. You've seen the kids on that slide thing down at Luna park. They hunch themselves along toward the start and then hang there until somebody from behind pushes them off. That's the way I feel these days. I feel somebody coming along from behind and give me a start. 'Cause I know, just as those kids know, that I am going to get bumped, and scraped, maybe, good and plenty before I reach bottom."

"Right!" said Roberts. "That's just the way I feel, too." He looked around the room critically. "And as yet nobody seems at all inclined to start us along with the old place, Charley? Here it is half past nine o'clock, Christmas eve, and there are less than twenty people here—and all of them cross. What are you looking at?"

"There's a bronzo-haired, bronzed little person sitting right back of you, Bobs—don't turn; she's looking right at you. I've seen her before. I ought to know who she is. But I can't remember for the life of me."

"One of those 'Where-have-I-seen-these-faces-before' situations?" Roberts cautiously looked obliquely into the mirror and studied the woman's face. "I'll bet you know her, too," retorted Cowles. "She is probably the lady cashier who used to smile across her desk at us languishingly when she gave us our change for our beef and ham—those you got plutocratic and married and shook all your friends. By the way, how is the family? This is a lovely joint for a six-months' bridegroom to be in on Christmas eve. But I've been so long watching you young men, reformed by marriage—yes, you married, old man!"

"She is looking away from the hauntingly reminiscent face of the woman opposite and caught the hurt look of his friend. 'What's the matter? You're not having any trouble at home, are you? You haven't been scrapping with Rose?'"

"Why do you ask me to meet you at a joint like this, tonight of all nights, if there wasn't trouble with Rose?" growled Roberts. "I'm not fit to be married to a girl like Rose, or any girl, anyway, Charley. It's his voice broke a little, he caught himself and went on. 'Let's drop it, Charley!'"

"They both stared at the table, for a moment. 'Bobs,' said Cowles, after awhile, speaking slowly and low, 'you can kick me for being fresh, if you like. I know it's none of my business. But I like you too much not to tell you that I hate to see you starting out on a tear because you've got a grouse on your wife. Now, I'm hopeless and my grouch isn't with anybody I care a hoot about, anyway. But you, Bobs—'"

"Drop it, Charley! Drop it!" Roberts laughed bitterly. "Let us proceed with that stirring melodrama which I suppose you would call 'The Sonse's Christmas Eve.'" He glanced again at the girl whose face he could see in the mirror. "I know who she is, Charley," he said, "the girl opposite you."

"The girl opposite you?" said Cowles, "the girl who was 'Goraine' and 'If You Wouldn't—Then I Would'—at the Casino about five years ago? Don't not fit to be married to a girl like Rose, or any girl, anyway, Charley. It's his voice broke a little, he caught himself and went on. 'Let's drop it, Charley!'" you remember that everybody was crazy about her?"

Cowles looked up cautiously. "Sure!" he said. "That's who she is. But what in the world is she in this place for? Sadie Cargill in Big Jimmy's Shaw, what a come-down!"

"I need to remember somebody was saying the other day that she had gone pretty well to pieces," said Roberts. "Didn't take care of herself. Whoever it was said he had seen her in the chorus of a fly-by-night musical comedy out Kansas City way and that she seemed to have hit bottom."

"Yes," said Cowles, studying the girl's face, "it is Sadie, all right. She seems to have kept all her good looks, too, except that her face has hardened terribly. Don't you remember what a soft-cheeked, innocent, merry little thing she always was?"

At what he saw. "Yes," he murmured, "she was. And now, before you recognized her, you called her 'bronze-haired and brazen-faced' and she is—'I hope,' spoke up the young woman, with startlingly distinct voice and with unlimited acidity of intonation, 'that the next time you two see me, you'll remember me! Take a good look!'"

Both men sprang to their feet, snatching at their hats. "I beg your pardon," said Roberts, earnestly, "but really I didn't realize that you could see from the mirror how I was staring at you. I'm awfully sorry and very much ashamed. Really I am—we both are."

Miss Cargill looked him over with approval and was obviously mollified. "That's all right," she said, with a tired smile. "I'm sorry I barked at you that way. A woman is a good deal of a fool to make a kick when a man looks at her in Big Jimmy's. But I'm sore on the world tonight and kind of cranky. Come on over here and bring your drinks with you both of you. Perhaps you can talk me out of it. I'm not trying to work you for a drink," she added hastily. "I paid for this one when I ordered it, and I haven't touched it yet. I was too much afraid that one would taste like another—and then another and then some. I don't like to take the plunge."

Cowles and Roberts looked at each other and laughed. And because Sadie, despite the hardening, was undeniably charming with the old graciousness of the Casino days, they carried their glasses to her table. Cowles smiled as they set them down, still full beside her.

"We were afraid, too," he explained. "You in trouble, too?" she elbowed. "Well, I'm used to it. Better tell your old auntie your poor little sorrows. Maybe I really can do you some good. She turned to Roberts. "First off, what's biting you?"

Cowles interrupted precipitately. "Let me tell mine," he urged. "I'm the worst case. I've just lost my job. I'm a newspaper man and I've never been noted for my saving disposition."

Miss Cargill nodded with a smile which seemed restrained. Almost involuntarily she hitched her chair over a little closer to Cowles. The instinct of the stage lady to cuddle up to the youth—may some time "get her name in the papers" is as imperishable as the instinct of self-preservation.

"Well," continued Cowles, "my rent comes due in a week. Also all the bills. Also it is the Merry Yule Tide when the young blood gets square with all the nice girls who have been especially nice to him. And I've been canned! Fired! Lost my job! And by the latest count I have on my person just thirteen dollars and forty cents good and lawful coin of the United States and nothing more coming to me. That's all."

Roberts took up the story. "No, it isn't all, Miss Cargill—I beg your pardon," he cried as he saw her wince. "It's all right," she said warily. "Don't bother. It's all right. I haven't used that name for some time and I kind of hoped nobody would remember it. Fact, I'd rather like you boys to call me that tonight. Christmas eve's kind of different. Go on."

"Charley didn't tell you how he lost his place," said Cowles. "He lost it because he took the blame for a and broke head by another man—the other man had a flock of kids, and Charley wouldn't see their Christmas spoiled—that's why!"

"Nice boy," she said softly. "Nice boy!" And then, after a moment. "And, anyway, this is the first job you ever lost, isn't it? Thought so. It's nothing when you get used to it. I know." Her voice was even; but her foot was tapping the floor under the table. "It's when you get used to it, and think you can always get another and one day find that nobody will believe you when you say that you're going to steady down and be good—that's what hurts. This time next year you'll be laughing at your self for feeling down."

"No, I won't!" growled Cowles. "I've done my best for three good years and I've been decent when I didn't have to be decent and I've been straight with myself and the gas. It doesn't pay. I'm going to cut loose now and take things as they come."

Miss Cargill studied the ugly blaze in his eye intently and shook her head. The hard lines in her face became more rigid.

Cowles reached for his glass. She stopped him. "No," she said, "let's all start even. I want to know your friend's troubles."

"Never mind about mine," said Roberts, looking away from them quite. He was almost, but not quite, smiling. Cowles shook his head at her amiably.

"Don't be afraid," she murmured. "I won't make any breaks. And he needs help more than you do." She turned to Roberts again. "Married?" she asked him.

"How did you know that?" he asked, his face still turned away. "Oh, I know," she said. "There's things about you that—oh, well, I know. And I'll tell you some more about yourself. This is the first time you've been out on the town since. Fellows who look as white and clean as you do don't come slouching around joints like this—and keep on looking clean and white. Now I don't want you to think I'm a butterfly, but really I wish you'd tell me about it."

She glanced over her shoulder. "I know it isn't the place or the crowd to talk about anything like this. But honest, I wish you'd tell me about it."

"How did you know that?" he asked, his face still turned away. "Oh, I know," she said. "There's things about you that—oh, well, I know. And I'll tell you some more about yourself. she's been sick. And I guess the father hasn't had a job in a long time. Anyway, the other day I saw him taking a china clock under his coat—it looked like a wedding present—and I guess people don't hock their wedding presents until pretty near the last. And the floor was very hard and I was getting snobbish nowadays and wasn't interested in poor people—or when they were sick. And she cried all day. She was crying when I came out last night. She was still crying when I got home this morning. She cried all day today. And I'm broke. I've only got ten dollars between me and the river. And my rent is due for the month. And I've got to pay that before I'm quit, because the landlord's been dead white to me. And I've never cared before for four years, but I care now—I care I can't help it. I do. I do."

She dropped her hands to the table and her head on them. She sobbed; they were long, dry, heartbreaking sobs.

"Don't cry, Miss Cargill," urged Cowles, patting her shoulder clumsily. "Don't cry—Sadie!" She jerked away from under his hand and cried on.

"Miss Cargill," said Roberts, leaning over toward her and speaking very softly, "you have been very kind to both of us. Will you let us be kind to you. Please stop crying. Please! And then try to tell me just how much money you need."

She lifted her head and glared at him.

"What good will money do that poor baby when she wakes up tomorrow morning and finds—she grinded her teeth and reached for her worn and rusty gloves and then for the long untouched glass.

"Wait!" cried Cowles in a tone that made them all start. His voice fairly rang. "Wait, wait, wait!" he repeated, pulling out his watch and looking at it. They were both staring at him curiously.

"Christmas Eve," he said. "The stores are open until midnight! It's only a little after ten o'clock. Come on for a cab and Eighth avenue! Here's where we knock the eye out of one set of troubles!"

The fat little proprietor of the Eighth Avenue Five and Ten Cent Emporium was galvanized into weary numbness into new life. Between two young men and a very fluffy (even though a bit shabby) young woman leaped out of a cab to his counters. He bounced around and scolded his clerks into a state of thorough irritation. But their work-wreck laugh gave way to curiosity when he saw the three customers went laughing, quarreling and consulting, up and down the disheveled counters. The fat proprietor went down into the cellar and came up with an armful of pasteboard packing cases in which two clerks especially detailed laid away each toy as it was singled out. These were dolls and tin railroad trains and whirling things and rattles and stuffed rabbits and woolly dogs that squeaked, and more dolls and building blocks and flying machines and Noah's arks and little stoves and dolls' furniture and more dolls—to say nothing of candleholders and silverware and shiny balls.

"Time! Call the game a minute!" cried Cowles. "Let's count up. How much have we bought?"

The fat proprietor, exuding greasy appreciation, made figures on a pad. "Fifteen dollars and thirty-six cents. And with a burst of generosity, added: 'I'll throw off the six cents.'"

Roberts laughed, but Cowles was serious. "Bobs," he said, "I'm afraid we've gone far enough. Half of fifteen is gone as far as I really ought to go."

"But where," insisted Miss Cargill, gently shouldering between them, "do I come in?"

"I'll throw a five-dollar bill into Roberts' hand."

"No," said both of them in a breath. She flushed, and in the next moment she was gone.

"What are you going to do now?" said Roberts after a while. "I tell you what I'm going to do," said Cowles. "I'm going to get down to the Metropole and get hold of Ted Tonwill and make him give Sadie Cargill a chance—a good chance—in his new show. He'll do it if we ask him, both of us together. And she will keep steady and make good. And we'll send her a telegram about it so she will get it first thing in the morning, before she gets to thinking any more about long journeys."

"Good! Of course that's what we'll do," cried Roberts. "Only let's hurry. Because I am going over to Brooklyn to get Rose and tell her what a good money I can get without the hurry of a consignment. I don't want to wake her father up any later than is necessary."

Cowles reached out and took his hand and gripped it, saying not a word. They turned toward the Metropole. In twenty steps Roberts stopped short and pulled Cowles under a street lamp.

"But look here, Charley," he said. "What are you going to do? We've fixed Miss Cargill up all right. And, bless her, she has fixed me up. But I don't see that either of us has done anything for you."

"You have done just this," said Charley, a little unsteadily. "Instead of taking the rosy and thorny path of graft I'm going over to the station to get the one o'clock train for Stationville where I've got an aunt who has been begging me to come up over Christmas. And when I've got a little rested and my nerves steadied down, I'm going to take a night desk on the Planet that's been offered me, only I was scared on the game. But, Bobs—"

Through a break in the roar of the city's night came the far-off tinkle of chimes ringing in the Christmas morn.

"Thank you," he said quietly. In a hansom laden with bundles and a Christmas tree cut from the sidewalk corner of the Emporium, Miss Cargill and Cowles departed northward. Roberts couldn't go because there wasn't room after the Christmas tree had been put in. "I'll meet you," he called to them. "At Big Jim's—no, not there. At the little drug store on the corner above. Merry Christmas to the kid."

It was nearly twelve when Cowles alighted at the drug store and met the eager Roberts, in the middle of the sidewalk.

"Tell me about it," demanded Roberts. "How was it?"

"How was it?" Cowles' eyes were brimming. "We had to wake the family up in the flat below," he said. "At first they were sleepy and kind of mad. Thought we were patronizing them. But Sadie was so everlastingly tactful and sweet and pretty soon they began to cry, and I thought we'd never get the darned old tree up for the mother's hugging her. Say, it was the grandest looking tree since the Garden of Eden. Honest! And when it was all fixed, the folks wanted to go in and wake up the baby and bring it out, and light up, and let Sadie see the tree. She laughed a little wouldn't have it. She said she didn't believe in Christmas Eve trees, morning was the time to have 'em. I didn't laugh. Couldn't. I saw her face and it most broke my heart. Then they asked her to come down in the morning; she said she couldn't. Said she was going away on a long journey before morning—oh, no, no, no, it's all right, she may have meant to kill herself—I think she did—but she won't now; it's all right. Wait till I tell you. And we walked up to her flat. Oh, I forgot to say, that on the way uptown she got to crying like a little girl because she didn't have any dolly of her own, and I bought her one, a horrible thing; painted china face and most as big as she was. We walked up to her flat; she had the doll in her arms with her head down on it. I lit the gas. She walked into her bedroom and laid the doll under the cover with its head on the pillow and threw herself down beside it."

"I started to say something and she lifted her head and told me to get out and the quicker the better. Then she fell down beside the doll again and began to cry. I never heard anybody cry like that. I went out to the door and rattle the handle. She sneaked back to her door again, because I didn't dare leave her—you know—after that daze she had been feeling and talking. She had cried herself to sleep with her arm out across that doll."

"So I turned the lights out and came away."

"What are we going to do now?" said Roberts after a while. "I tell you what I'm going to do," said Cowles. "I'm going to get down to the Metropole and get hold of Ted Tonwill and make him give Sadie Cargill a chance—a good chance—in his new show. He'll do it if we ask him, both of us together. OAN BUY RAILWAY CHEAP

Merrill, a city of 10,000 population, is battling to save its street car service. The city has appealed to the railroad commission to block the plans of the Wisconsin Valley Electric Company to discontinue the service when its franchise expires on December 31. The line would not pay expenses even if the fare was increased, company officials claim. They have offered to sell the entire city system to Merrill for $1. The company also operates interurban and waterpower utilities.

ARE OUR WATER RATES TOO HIGH?
Men who have looked into the matter assert that our water rates here in the city are out of all reason and much more than they are in other cities of this size throughout the state. It is even stated that one concern that thought of locating here was kept from doing so because our rates for water were so high that they were prohibitive. Another concern that is already located here would like to enlarge their establishment and make this city their permanent home and their central station, but are loath to take the step, for the reason that they have already discovered that our water rates are excessive, and would not want to invest very much money in this city unless there was some chance of a change in the rates.

We have heard this same complaint before, but supposed at the time that it came from a chronic kicker who was looking for something to kick about, and the only thing he could discover that was not just to his liking was the rate that was being charged for water. Of course this water we have in Grand Rapids is an especially good brand, both for use as a beverage, and also to wash with, but it does not cost any more to pump it than it does the poorer kinds such as is used in other cities, and in view of this fact the cost should not be any greater to the community. Our water, the same as our electricity, is furnished by the city, and the consumer is supposed to get it as near cost as is consistent with good business methods, and if the consumer is paying more for the water than they are doing in other cities, there must be something the matter with our business methods, and they should be looked into at once.

We have been doing quite a bit of blowing about our cheap electric power, of which we have little or no surplus, it appears, and we have also done some bragging about our excellent water, which at times we have had very little of, and now they are telling us that what we have got we are selling at such a high price that it cannot be used for commercial purposes. Let's look into the matter, and if there is any reason for the kick that is being made, why not rectify the trouble at once.

A few years ago the city was not paying anything for hydrant rental, but this matter was taken care of, but it may still be too low to be equitable for all concerned, and if this is the trouble, why not put it where it should be. It will probably be impossible to satisfy everybody, but let us come as near to doing so as is possible under the existing conditions.

CLOSE BIG CONTRACT FOR COUNTY'S STONE

One of the largest contracts ever entered into by Wood County was closed last Thursday afternoon when the County Highway Committee and the Highway Commissioner closed the contract for 45,000 cubic yards of paving stone with the Universal Quarries of Chicago. The stone will be delivered at different points in the county in time for next year's paving contracts between this city and Marshallfield. Completed with the freight and hauling which will be necessary to bring it to the scene of operations the total cost of this one contract will run more than $100,000 it is estimated.

The step taken at this time will assure the completion of the work next year as far as the materials are concerned, the county committee state. While the contractors will not do their own work, the contractors will be sold the stone at the figure that it cost the county to put it on the road. The committee is determined to complete the entire twenty-seven mile stretch Grand Rapids and Marshallfield next year if it is possible to do so. Many of the larger contracts in the state were held up last year by the contractors being unable to get materials. With the materials on the scene of operations there will be one less excuse next year for failure to get the work in. A contract for 90,000 barrels of cement will be let Monday at the county house which will assure the county of the other brand of material which is in heavy demand by road builders over the entire country. This will also be placed on the roads where it will be used and should the work be contracted the contractor will be sold the material at the actual cost of buying and hauling.

The stone bought at this time is sold to the county at a figure of $1.50 per cubic yard at the pit, which is about $2.15 delivered in this city. The Universal quarries have crushed rock available at Waupaca and Montello as well as Lohville, and when practical the rock will be shipped from those quarries should it be possible to effect a saving in the freight rate. Some of the stone will go to Auburndale and towns along the Soo line where it is thought it will mean a saving to ship over the Soo line from Waupaca. In addition to being one of the largest contracts ever let by Wood county, the contract for the stone is the largest of the kind ever let in the state. The contract for the stone was signed by County Highway Commissioner Louis Amundson.

In addition to the large order for cement which the county will place for next year there will be fifteen or sixteen patrol graders purchased, a crushed rock unloader, and a large gas or oil tractor. The rock contract covers only a portion of the stone that will be actually needed, the balance to be crushed by the county's two stone crushers.

NO ONE OWNED THE DEER.

Some hunter will be short of a deer before a great many days. On Saturday, says the Neillville Times, the expressman on the scout threw a fine doe off the train at this station. It was without any mark or tag and it would appear had been lost in some manner and none of the express men wanted the responsibility. So each "passed the doe" along to the next one. Agent Zillisch decided to send the carcass in to the express company at Minneapolis and the doe was on the trucks at the depot for shipment, when game warden Lanning from Black River Falls happened to take the same train and looked the animal over. It did not take him long to put a red tag on the deer and start it for Madison instead of Minneapolis. There were a lot of fellows around the depot who wished that they had seen the deer first, for a deer without a license tag or mark of identification would be good meat for most any one.

NO ONE OWNED THE DEER.

Some hunter will be short of a deer before a great many days. On Saturday, says the Neillville Times, the expressman on the scout threw a fine doe off the train at this station. It was without any mark or tag and it would appear had been lost in some manner and none of the express men wanted the responsibility. So each "passed the doe" along to the next one. Agent Zillisch decided to send the carcass in to the express company at Minneapolis and the doe was on the trucks at the depot for shipment, when game warden Lanning from Black River Falls happened to take the same train and looked the animal over. It did not take him long to put a red tag on the deer and start it for Madison instead of Minneapolis. There were a lot of fellows around the depot who wished that they had seen the deer first, for a deer without a license tag or mark of identification would be good meat for most any one.

PURE BRED HOGS.

I understand that the representatives of the National Swine Breeders' Association are selling open gilts at $150 each and saying that I am backing their proposition. Several farmers have asked me what I thought about this movement and I have told all of them that the price being asked is just twice what similar stock can be bought for elsewhere. In fact several of our farmers bought gilts from $40 to $75. Why pay $150 for the same quality of stock? We had a meeting at Marshallfield some time ago, and this was the idea of the breeders present.

We should have more well bred hogs in the county. But first of all buy them of local men if possible. If not, make use of the county agent. Well bred registered sow pigs from fall farrow from large litters can be had at from $40 to $75. If you order the gilt from the Swine Breeders Association and if they made misrepresentations at the time, do not accept the hog.

The breeders of other classes of live stock in the county are well organized. We have Holstein Breeders Association, a Guernsey Breeders Association, a general Live Stock Breeders Association, a Poultry Association and we need and must have a Hog Breeders Association. A meeting will be called in the very near future to organize a general Swine Breeders association. Watch for the date in the papers.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for woman's use.

Over 500,000 bottles of various herbs are used annually and all have been gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

Many women from whom we have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

"THRIFT WEEK" IS TO BEGIN JAN. 17

PEOPLE EVERYWHERE WILL BE REMINDED HOW THEY CAN HELP GOOD GOVERNMENT.

TEN MONEY COMMANDMENTS

Treasury Officials Say That Despite Much Reckless Spending, Americans Are Paying More Attention To Saving Than Ever Before.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

The department of the treasury says that the people of the United States are making use of the lessons in saving they learned during the world war. The department points out that there are, of course, a great many persons who are spending money recklessly, but all the information on the subject of saving that is coming to the department indicates that the great masses of the people are paying more attention to saving than ever before. The treasury department is undoubtedly good authority on this subject for the savings division, which was established within the department during the war, has been permanent and is one of the active divisions.

The thought behind the act of making this division permanent was that the government should always be prepared to lead the people along sound financial paths. It is a work in which the people everywhere have co-operated in a most enthusiastic way. The mind the activity of the savings division there is the further thought that the condition of the individual is improved through the observance of sound financial rules and the financial and industrial strength of the nation increases through the enormous sums of capital which accrue through the practice of steady saving and safe investments on the part of citizens.

In order to help along this savings idea the government has designated the week beginning January 17, 1920, as national thrift week. It is proposed during that week to remind the people everywhere through public meetings and appropriate speeches that the cause of good citizenship and good government can be helped along by everybody who has money to spare by buying War Savings stamps or depositing money in savings banks.

What We Saved During War.

It does not seem to be generally known that while the country was buying $200,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds, its citizens paid away more than $1,000,000,000 to War Savings stamps.

It is expected that out of Thrift week there will grow a general campaign in the interest of careful saving and wise spending. Attorney General Palmer, who has been wrestling with the high cost of living since last August without being able to beat the cost down to any considerable extent, is advertising the doctrine of careful saving and wise spending.

In connection with the plans for Thrift week it has been proposed by the treasury department that the speakers who go out that week dwell on the following ten commandments for the guidance of those who are trying to administer their incomes carefully: Make a budget, keep an intelligent record of expenditures, have a bank account, carry life insurance, make a will, own your own home eventually, pay your bills promptly, invest in War Savings stamps and other government securities, spend less than you earn, share with others as much as possible.

The treasury department says that savings stamps and treasury savings certificates will be available again next year at banks and post offices. It is not the expectation of the treasury department that the government will have to make another bond sale to meet the expenditures incurred during the war, but in order to make both ends meet it will be necessary to sell both savings stamps and treasury savings certificates. The treasury department also points out that the people who prefer to invest their savings in Liberty bonds can always purchase them through any banking institution at the current market prices.

The treasury department is anxious to have the holders of bonds of the second Liberty loan understand that those bonds are convertible into 4½ per cent bonds as well as exchangeable into permanent bonds, and that the treasury has already prescribed regulations for the exchange of these bonds into permanent bonds and conversions with the minimum of inconvenience and expense to both the government and the bond holders. Under these regulations there will be no exchanges of temporary for permanent bonds until March 15, 1920.

New Year to Bring Out Candidates.

The first day of January next will mark the beginning of the preliminaries that will eventuate in the election of a president and vice president of the United States in November, 1920. On that day presidential aspirants must make known their Home-Made Water Filter. To make a cheap water filter, take a large garden pot and stop the hole in the bottom by placing a plug of sponge in it. Cover with a few inches of powdered charcoal, fill with water, and let it stand over a pan or tub supported by two or three sticks laid across. The water filtering through the charcoal will be freed from all impurities and will be fit for family use. The charcoal should be changed every three months and the sponge several times a year.

Thirst of Sea Birds. Some species of sea birds frequently spend weeks at sea and are believed to quench their thirst partly from the falling rains. The keen eyesight of birds is well known, and sea birds have been observed flocking toward a storm cloud about to burst.

intentions to the voters of South Dakota. If they desire to compete for the ten delegates from that state. Every candidate for president must "define the issue" as he sees it before he can ask for votes at the state-wide primaries, which will be held March 28. Twenty-one of the states have made provision for choosing candidates for presidential nominations in a regular manner. The other 27 states still adhere to the old state convention system of selecting delegates to the national conventions.

New Hampshire will hold the first of the presidential primaries on March 9. Although there is no direct vote on presidential candidates in that state in the primary, delegates may file statements of preference if they so desire. The first really direct vote for presidential candidates will be in North Dakota, March 18. There candidates may have their names placed on the primary ballot through petition of not less than 500 voters of their party. The next primary date is that of South Dakota, April 15. The Michigan primary will be held, at least 100 qualified voters of the state must sign a candidate's petition before twelve o'clock noon on March 11 in order that the candidate may participate in the primary. Delegates to the national convention are not selected at this primary in Michigan, but at a state convention.

In New York and Wisconsin.

On April 6, New York and Wisconsin hold presidential preference primaries. Delegates are selected at the primary in New York, but no preference is indicated on the primary ballot. In Wisconsin, however, at least 1 per cent of the party electors in at least six counties (not less than 1 per cent more than 10 per cent of the total vote in the state) must file petition for the presidential candidate not later than March 6. The delegates chosen in the primary and candidates for delegates may file a statement of principles or presidential choice, in not exceeding five words, which will be printed on the ballot.

The Illinois primary comes on April 13, at which delegates from congressional districts to the national convention will be selected. Delegates at large from the entire state of Illinois are to be named in a state convention held on May 10. The last day for filing petitions in the primary and candidates for delegates in the district primaries must state their choice or declare "no preference." Presidential candidates may disavow a candidacy for delegate, whereupon the candidate for delegate is not certified. The Nebraska primary will be held on April 20. At least 100 voters from each congressional district must sign a presidential candidate's petition not later than March 20. In Montana the presidential primary is fixed for April 23.

Three Come on One Day.

Three primaries are scheduled for April 27, in Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio. In the Bay state there is no direct vote for presidential candidates. The presidential preference of the candidates for delegates is indicated on the primary ballot. In New Jersey at least 1,000 voters must sign a petition for the presidential candidate before April 1. In Ohio the presidential candidate, either in person or by authorized representative, must file a personal declaration containing a pledge to support the party principles declared in the national platform of his party. The primary in Maryland is to be held on May 3. Presidential candidates are required to file a personal declaration not later than April 24. Delegates to the national convention in Maryland are selected at state conventions and under the law are instructed to vote in the national convention for the candidate of their party who carried the state in the primary.

CUE SKILL OF CHAMPION WILLIAM HOPPE DUE LARGELY TO INFLUENCE OF FATHER

Supreme Billiardist of His Time.

Willie Hoppe has again won a billiard championship over the best exponents of the game in the world. There may be fellows who can play a more brilliant game than Hoppe in practice. There is no man, nor any set of men, who can beat him in a tournament.

What is true of every other game is true of billiards. There are times when some men can play brilliantly when there is nothing at stake, but it is the fellow who can always play brilliantly who gets money and makes the championships. Hoppe is one of these. He always plays in championship form.

Has Lived Right. The reason he does that is that he has always lived in a way to guarantee constant triumph. He has sacrificed more, probably, than any other living billiardist, and it shows in the result.

There is no man on earth who, in the long run, can beat Hoppe at the billiard game, and he has earned the right to be the supreme billiardist of his time; he has worked for it. Whatever success Champion Hoppe has attained at billiards—and many he is conceded to be the greatest balling player of all time—is due largely to the influence of his father, now a billiard instructor.

John Henry Frank Hoppe was born in 1892 at Goshen, N. Y. His sons are Frank, the pocket billiard player, now living at Rockford; Willie, the billiard champion, and Albert, who is in business in St. Louis.

Some Start Game Young. Frank Hoppe was 7½ and Willie 5½ when they first started playing Hoppe.

There is no greater student of the game than Mr. Hoppe the elder. For forty years he watched the leading players of the world and from this study evolved a system which is different from that of any other player. It is this system which has given Willie his supremacy as a balling player. It is based largely on the method in which the object ball is hit, "time or timing," says Mr. Hoppe, "the greatest key in billiards" and his ability in this line has been a big factor in the work of Willie Hoppe.

Twirler Loses a Game Before Pitching Ball.

It is seldom indeed that a pitcher goes into the box and loses a game before he has even pitched a ball, as was the case in the Milwaukee-Indianapolis game, which brought the American association championship season of 1919 to a close. Caught between the box in the ninth inning with the score tied and by making a balk with a runner on third base allowed the opposing team to score the winning run.

466 EGGS IN TWO YEARS IS NEW WISCONSIN RECORD

What can be done by good breeding to increase egg production in the flock is illustrated in two new records just completed by single comb White Leghorns on the Wisconsin Experiment Station farm. Fed the usual ration, one of these hens at the end of her second year of laying had produced 466 eggs; the other laid 464.

Both hens are from strains of high producers which have been bred up by J. G. Halpin, poultryman on the station farm, for 10 years. Not only were the dams high producers, but the cocks were from dams whose egg production were high.

The hen whose two-year record is 464 eggs laid last year 253 eggs, a slightly better record than that made the first year by the 466-egg hen. The best record made previous to this year by a Wisconsin Experiment station hen is 432 eggs.

Laundry Service!

We are surprised at, and grateful for, the results of our previous letters regarding our Family Wash Service. In this letter we will try to explain just how we handle your clothes after they are washed.

First, they are taken to our extractors where the water is removed, not by running through rollers, as is done at home with the old fashioned wringer which, you will admit, often tears and breaks buttons, but they are packed in a round basket of copper which revolves at a speed of twelve to fourteen hundred revolutions per minute. The water is forced out through the basket by centrifugal force without any strain on the goods.

The flat pieces are then ironed and dried by being put through our flat work ironer, a large machine with heavy padded rollers which will iron thin table linen or heavy bed spreads equally as well. Your starched goods are starched and dried and all other garments are dried in a cylinder which revolves slowly, and as the hot air is forced through the goods they have the appearance and feel of being dried in the sun on a warm summer day.

Finally, they all go to the sorting room, where each washing is carefully checked and bundled ready for delivery to you.

This service costs you but eight cents per pound.

We will later tell you of our Dry Cleaning methods whereby we clean all garments that cannot be washed by water.

LABOR FEDERATION RENAMED THURSDAY

In order to comply with the ruling of the American Federation of Labor the Grand Rapids Federation of Labor will hereafter be known as the Central Labor Union of Grand Rapids. This body is now composed of representatives of fifteen unions who represent approximately eighteen hundred working people of this city. Each union is entitled to three delegates for the first fifty members and one delegate for each additional fifty members or majority fraction thereof. The musicians and railway clerks, which are expected to affiliate with the central body in the near future, will bring the figures up to seventeen locals. The next meeting night falling on Christmas it was decided to postpone it to December 30.

The meeting last Thursday night was taken up chiefly with the framing of a constitution, which follows:

Declaration of Principles.

1. While we are opposed to entering any political party as a body, we declare it our duty to use our influence with the law-making power to secure the following objects: the regulation of the employment of children and women; securing the adoption of a state apprenticeship law, by which all apprentices to a trade would be properly indentured; securing the adoption of proper laws regulating the hours constituting a day's work; reforms in prison labor to prevent the product of convict labor coming into competition with honest industry.

2. We declare it the duty of every laboring man to use his utmost endeavor to secure the amelioration of the condition of the laboring classes generally, and to accomplish this we believe that a central organization should exist whereby all branches of labor may prove allies to one particular one that may be oppressed by capital.

3. We hereby pledge ourselves to assist each other in securing fair wages to the laboring man by all honorable means; we shall withdraw and use our influence to have others withdraw all patronage from any employer who refuses to grant a fair remuneration for services rendered, or in any other way proves himself antagonistic to the just demand of honest labor.

4. We declare that all existing beneficial labor laws should be rigidly enforced, especially those requiring compulsory education and the abolition of the Turk System, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to secure such enforcement.

5. To encourage the principle of arbitration wherever practicable.

6. We favor the self employment of labor, as only complete independence can be obtained when the laborer is no longer dependent on other individuals for the right to work; and especially do we recommend that whenever trades intend striking for the accomplishment of any just purpose, if the funds of the organization will allow it, the resistance, instead of being passive, should become active, by using the funds productively instead of unproductively.

7. To endeavor to the best of our ability to disseminate useful information by means of lectures, debates, pamphlets and industrial literature among our co-workers.

HIGH SCHOOL WON FROM GRANTON FRIDAY NIGHT

The Grand Rapids team won a hotly contested battle from the Granton five in the opening game of the high school basketball season here Friday night. The score was 13 and 14 in favor of the local team. Both teams were on their toes every minute and in spite of the advantage of experience which the Granton players possessed they were unable to win from the home boys. Troop four of the Catholic church, under Scoutmaster A. C. Dorand and Troop two, of the Congregational church, under Scoutmasters O. R. Roenlin and Dean C. Babcock, played a curtain raiser for the Granton game, in which Troop four took the honors, the final score being six to four.

The Rapids-Granton game was one of the best that has ever been played on the local floor in spite of the fact that it was the first of the season for both local men. Granton had played and won four consecutive games this season and came here expecting to keep up their record for the season. The local team, however, were putting up a good exhibition of the game and when the first half ended the score was eight to six in favor of Grand Rapids. Granton threatened to win out in the last half when they gained a point from the earlier lead but when the game ended the local team was ahead. The game was marked by a number of fouls on both sides.

Friday the local team meets the Nekosia high school basketball team at Marshfield last Friday night where they were beaten by a 21 to 15 score. This, however, does not indicate that they have not a strong team in it as the Marshfield team is widely the best in the central part of Wisconsin.

A dancing party followed the game Friday evening, the high school orchestra furnishing the music. The lineup Friday night was as follows:

Monitor, forward.
Millenbach, forward.
Holberg, center.
Gaulko, guard.
Matthews, guard.

FORMER GRAND RAPIDS BOY DIES IN THE EAST.

The New Hampshire Argus and Spectator, published at Newport, N. H., carried the following article of the death of a former Grand Rapids boy, who left this city with his parents several years ago. Mr. B. J. H. Shaw was formerly pastor of the Congregational church in this city, preceding Rev. Staff in the pulpit of that church. The eastern paper says:

"Homingway Dent Shaw, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. J. H. Shaw, of Grand Rapids, passed away in Washington, D. C., last Sunday. Accompanied by his mother and sister, he was on his way to Asheville, N. C., where he was going in hope of recovery from his wearying illness. Mr. Shaw was born in Liverpool, England, Aug. 15, 1879, and completed his education there. After coming to this country with his parents, he attended the Bradley Polytechnic school of Peoria, Ill., and Armour Institute, Chicago, so fitting himself for his profession. He taught manual training many years in the Middle West and in the South, and last year in East Orange, N. J.

SHERRY R. N. A. ELECTED OFFICERS FRIDAY NIGHT

From Sherry Correspondent.

The R. N. A. of Sherry and their families met at the home of Paul Zornko last Friday evening, Dec. 12, and installed their officers for the coming year. They had their installation now instead of later as some of the members were going away for a time and could not be here. The Zornko home was beautifully decorated in purple and white, the lodge colors, and plates were laid for 45. The ladies of the lodge had prepared a delicious oyster supper for the guests present. After all were served and the tables cleared away, the folding doors were thrown open and the large parlor and dining room were converted into a modern lodge room. Then followed the installation of officers. Neighbor M. E. McLaughlin took the chair as installing officer and who certainly did justice to her part. Neighbor Cara Parks was ceremonial marshal. The officers for the following year are as follows:

Orator, Mrs. H. J. Thomas.
Vice Orator, Mrs. Otto Zornko.
Past Orator, Mrs. Homer Cook.
Chancellor, Miss Marjorie Thomas.
Recorder, Mrs. Harry Thomas.
Investor, Mrs. John Tjepkonia.
Marshal, Mrs. Paul Zornko.
Inner Sentinel, Mrs. L. Stratton.
Outer Sentinel, Mrs. Bert Gates.
Manager for 3 years, Mrs. Ernest Beck.

Physician, Dr. H. L. Moffatt.

The night was quite cold, but most of the members were present. Out of town guests were George E. Davis of Merron and George A. Davis of Dodgeville, and Mr. and Mrs. George Powell and daughter Audrey of Milwaukee.

RINK OPENS SATURDAY.

The owners of the Armory have announced that there will be skating in the building every evening during the holidays and three afternoons a week. This will reopen the roller skating rink to the people after about two years of no skating, during which time the rink was used as an armory by Company K and for dances which were held in the building. The rink will be run under the direction of George Corriveau, and will continue thru the Christmas holidays only.

St. Stephens Evangelical Lutheran church at Merrill was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. The loss is $16,000. The church was built in 1884.

RUDOLPH STUDENTS PLAN CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

The pupils of St. Philomena's school of Rudolph are preparing a Christmas program to be held in Haumschild's hall on December 28th. One of the principal features will be a large Christmas tree in the center of the hall containing presents for old and young. All friends and parishioners are invited. Coffee, sandwiches and cake will be served. Admission 25 cents.

A special musical program with orchestral accompaniment is being arranged for the solemn masses, that Christmas services may be as beautiful and inspiring as possible. The programs will be published next week.

BOUND TO CIRCUIT COURT.

Joe Welsang, alias Joe Dawn, alleged thief of the liberty bonds taken from Dr. Mortenson's office last summer, appeared before Judge E. N. Pomainville last Thursday afternoon for a preliminary hearing in his case. After hearing the testimony Judge Pomainville bound him over to the circuit court on a charge of grand larceny, placing the bonds at $3,000 which he was unable to furnish. Welsang denied his guilt in the case and stated that there was insufficient evidence to even indicate that he was the man. He has been given medical treatment since his arrest here last fall, the result being that he is almost cured of his liking for dope. His case will probably come up at the January term of the circuit court.

PROF. BRANNON SPOKE.

Speaking on the "Community" Prof. M. A. Brannon, president of Beloit college, gave a very interesting and instructive address before the Sunday Evening Club at the Congregational church last Sunday. Mr. Brannon spoke of the needs of development in every community, and of the measures necessary to keep the people within that community happy, healthful and contented. Prof. Brannon spoke of the need of stimulating religious and educational life and of keeping the political life of the community on a higher standard than is the common practice.

Mrs. Dan Arpin, Jr. of Bruce, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Joseph Taylor.

MIGHT WORK HERE.

In Kewaunee county it is proposed to use army tanks for packing the deep snow on the public highways during the long, hard winter season. Great rollers of wooden construction have been used for years past for this purpose, the only disadvantage being that the horses hauling the packer had to founder thru the deep snow ahead of it. The tank, carrying its own motive power, will do the work much more rapidly and, because of its strength, much better than was possible with the rollers, the highway commissioners believe.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mathis and daughter Frances, left Monday for California where they will spend the winter.

JOHN ANSWERS BILL'S LETTER

Hillview Dairy Farm,
Rudolph, Wis., December 8, 1919

Dear Brother Bill:—
I received your letter in which you
advised me to stay at home with Dad
and Mother here on the farm, and I have been wanting to answer, but you will excuse my delay when you know that I am going to stay at home.

We have been right busy finishing up our fall work, and now that we are through we can live like real
human beings this winter. Mr.
Eron, our plumber has finished his work here the past month and our
new Mitchell stanchions and the watering system are all ready for use.
Gee! but we've got a dandy plant.
No overhead tank system like the
other farmers around here have.
Our water is supplied right from the tank under pressure. Mr. Eron says its the "KEWANEE" way. It surely works slick. But the best part of it is that I don't have to carry any more water to those thirsty cows.
Gosh, I'm glad.

I've got a secret that I want to tell you 'bout 'till you came home and saw it yourself, but I know you'll pester me to death if I don't tell so I decided to tell. Dad had Mr. Eron
install a complete plumbing system
and a sewage disposal plant at the house. The plumbing consists of a bath room for all of us and a sink and laundry tub for Mother. The thing is supplied with hot and cold
water under pressure from the same system as the barn is supplied. Gee!
Mother is tickled cause she don't have to make any more trips to the pump, and I am too cause I don't have to haul water any more for washings and you know, Saturday nights. Just jump into the nice
white tub and take a real bath.
Didn't know you could feel so good after it. Dad says he feels lots younger now. Like it! Guess we do.

Your old friends Stub Stanley and Jim White came over a spell yesterday and they both said they were going to make their dad fix
up like our place next year. Dad
just figured up that he got $12.00
more on his milk check this time.
He says I must of forgot to water
a few cows before we had our drinking cups put in.
Well Bill, we all hope to see you
at Christmas time and then you can take in the sights here and have a good visit. Mother says she thinks you'll stay here 'too after you see our layout cause there's
no more water hauling to do.
Your grateful brother,
Johnny.

HANSEN HAS HIGH TAXES.

The Vesper State Center states that the taxes in the town of Hansen
will be unusually high this year,
which is strictly in accord with the
reports from every other community
in the state. The Vesper paper says:
"Taxes in the town of Hansen will be considerably higher according to Clerk Wm. Elbert who is about to get out the next tax roll. While
all the items to make up the tax budget are not in his hands, yet he estimates that the tax receipts will show an increase of upward of 80 per cent over last year. He estimates
the tax rate to be close to 4 per cent
on the assessed valuation. Many additional items go to make up this increase such as the soldiers bonus,
soldier educational bonus, new bridge at Grand Rapids, added to
this is the fact that the town of Hansen has $1500 to pay on the new Hemlock Creek bridge this year and
a thousand dollars is due on the tractor. Of course the high prices of labor and supplies that the town has had to buy also enters into this increase. The tax roll will be ready to deliver to the town treasurer by the first of the year.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS

If you take the Tribune and live outside of the first zone, the subscription price to the Tribune will be $2.50 per year after the first of January. Those living inside of the first zone will be charged the same as before, $2.00 per year.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attend the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care of the preparator which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

Dry Dock on Land Above Water Level. A dry dock now in process of construction by a lumber concern at Ljusne, Sweden, to accommodate its own freight carriers, is remarkable for the fact that it is not in the water at all, but is built on a hill, above sea level. It is 325 feet long, and accommodates vessels of 4,000 dead-weight tons, which will enter it by means of a lock, fed by a waterpower canal from the Ljusne river. By the same means the dry dock can be filled with water, and equipped with gravity without any use of pumps. The cost of docking will thus be greatly reduced.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

"THRIFT WEEK" IS TO BEGIN JAN. 17

PEOPLE EVERYWHERE WILL BE REMINDED HOW THEY CAN HELP GOOD GOVERNMENT.

TEN MONEY COMMANDMENTS

Treasury Officials Say That Despite Much Reckless Spending, Americans Are Paying More Attention To Saving Than Ever Before.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

The department of the treasury says that the people of the United States are making use of the lessons in saving they learned during the world war. The department points out that there are, of course, a great many persons who are spending money recklessly, but all the information on the subject of saving that is coming to the department indicates that the great masses of the people are paying more attention to saving than ever before. The treasury department is undoubtedly good authority on this subject for the savings division, which was established within the department during the war, has been made permanent and is one of the active divisions.

The thought behind the act of making this division permanent was that the government should always be prepared to lead the people along sound financial paths. It is a work in which the people everywhere have cooperated in a steady saving way. Behind the activity of the savings division there is the further thought that the condition of the individual is improved through the observance of sound financial rules and the financial and industrial strength of the nation increases through the enormous sums of capital which accrue through the prudent saving and safe investments on the part of citizens.

In order to help along this savings idea the government has designated the week beginning January 17, 1920, as national thrift week. It is proposed during that week to remind the people everywhere through public meetings and appropriate speeches that the cause of good citizenship and good government can be helped along by everybody who has money to spare buying War Savings stamps or depositing money in savings banks.

What We Saved During War. It does not seem to be generally known that while the country was buying $200,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds it also put away more than $1,000,000,000 in War Savings stamps, and that during the war period savings bank deposits in the United States increased some $8,000,000,000.

It is expected that out of Thrift week there will grow a general campaign in the interest of careful saving and wise spending. Americans are urged to keep their money in the high cost of living since last August without being able to beat the cost down to any considerable extent, is advocating the doctrine of careful saving and wise buying as probably the only real remedy for the high cost of living trouble. A good many won't do it, but it is the only way to get out of the money trap.

In connection with the plans for Thrift week it has been proposed by the treasury department that the speakers who go out that week dwell on the following ten commandments for the guidance of those who are trying to administer their incomes carefully: Make a budget, keep an intelligent record of expenditures, have a bank account, carry life insurance, make a will, own your own home eventually, pay your bills promptly, invest in government securities, spend less than you earn, share with others as much as possible.

More Stamps and Certificates. The treasury department says that savings stamps and treasury savings certificates will be available again next year at banks and post offices. It is not the expectation that the government will have to make another bond sale to meet the expenditures incurred during the war, but in order to make both ends meet it will be necessary to sell both savings stamps and treasury savings certificates. The treasury department also points out that people who prefer to invest their savings in Liberty bonds can always purchase them through any banking institution at the current market prices.

The treasury department is anxious to have the holders of bonds of the second Liberty loan understand that those bonds are convertible into 4½ per cent bonds as well as exchangeable into permanent bonds, and that the government has already prescribed regulations calculated to provide for both exchanges and conversions with the minimum of inconvenience and expense to both the government and the bond holders. Under these regulations there will be no exchanges of temporary for permanent bonds until March 15, 1920.

New Year to Bring Out Candidates. The first day of January next will mark the beginning of the preliminaries that will eventuate in the election of a president and vice president of the United States in November, 1920. On that day presidential aspirants must make known their Home-Made Water Filter. To make a cheap water filter, take a large garden pot and stop the bottom by placing a piece of sponge in it. Cover with a few inches of powdered charcoal, fit with water, and let it stand over a pail or tub supported by two or three sticks laid across. The water filtering through the charcoal will be freed from all impurities and will be fit for family use. The charcoal should be changed every three months and the sponge several times a year.

Thirst of Sea Birds. Some species of sea birds frequently spend weeks at sea and are believed to quench their thirst partly from the falling rains. The keen eyesight of birds is well known, and sea birds have been observed flocking toward a storm cloud about to burst.

Walking Delegate Not on Wire Then. When Ben Franklin coaxed electricity from the elements it probably did not occur to him that he was paving the way for possible telephone or telegraph strikes.

Intensions to the voters of South Dakota if they desire to compete for the delegates from that state. Every candidate for president must "define the issue" as he sees it before he can ask for votes at the state-wide primaries, which will be held March 28. Twenty-one of the states have made provision for choosing candidates for presidential nominees in a popular manner. The other 27 states still adhere to the old state convention system of selecting delegates to the national conventions.

New Hampshire will hold the first of the presidential primaries on March 9. Although there is no direct vote on presidential candidates in that state in the primary, delegates may give statements of preference if they so desire. The first really direct vote for presidential candidates will be in North Dakota, March 16. There candidates may have their names placed on the primary ballot through petition of not less than 500 voters of their party. The next primary date is the state of South Dakota. On April 15 the Michigan primary will be held. At least 100 qualified voters of the state must sign a candidate's petition before twelve o'clock noon on March 1 in order that the candidate may participate in the primary. Delegates to the national convention are not selected at this primary in Michigan, but at a state convention.

In New York and Wisconsin. On April 6, New York and Wisconsin hold presidential preference primaries. Delegates are selected at the primary in New York, but no preference is indicated on the primary ballot. In Wisconsin, however, at least 1 per cent of the party electors in at least six counties (not less than 1 per cent of the total vote in the state) must file a petition for the presidential candidate not later than March 6. The delegates are chosen in the primary and candidates for delegate may file a statement of principles or presidential choice, in not exceeding five words, which will be printed on the ballot.

The Illinois primary comes on April 13, at which delegates from congressional districts to the national convention will be selected. Delegates at large from the entire state of Illinois are to be named in a state convention held on May 10. The last day for filing petitions is March 3. Delegates must state their choice or declare "no preference." Presidential candidates may disavow a candidacy for delegate, whereupon the candidate for delegate is not certified. The Nebraska primary will be held on April 20. At least 100 voters from each congressional district must sign a presidential candidate's petition; later than March 20, in Montana the presidential primary is fixed for April 23.

Three Come on One Day. The Illinois primary is scheduled for April 27, in Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio. In the Bay state there is no direct vote for presidential candidates. The presidential preference of the candidates for delegates is indicated on the primary ballot. In New Jersey at least 7,000 voters must sign a petition for the presidential candidate before April 1. In Ohio the presidential candidate, either in person or by authorized representative, must file a personal declaration containing a pledge to support the party principles as declared in the national platform and the party program. Maryland is to hold its primary on May 5. Presidential candidates are required to file a personal declaration not later than April 24. Delegates to the national convention in Maryland are selected at state conventions and under the law are instructed to vote for the national convention for the candidate of their party who carries the state in the primary. Maryland will witness primaries in California and in Indiana.

Primaries will be held in Pennsylvania and Vermont on May 18. In the Keystone state petitions must be filed by the presidential candidate not later than April 8, containing at least 100 signatures from at least ten counties. On May 20 the presidential preference primary is to be held in Oregon. Candidates for the presidency may file a written request for the printing of their names on the ballot, this request to be made not later than April 16. The candidacy may be presented by petition of at least 1,000 voters, or by a declaration of the candidate in Virginia on May 20. June 8 is the date fixed in Florida for the selection of delegates to the national convention.

CUE SKILL OF CHAMPION WILLIAM HOPPE DUE LARGELY TO INFLUENCE OF FATHER

Supreme Billiardist of His Time.

Willie Hoppe has again won a billiard championship over the best of the boys in the world. There may be fellows who can play a more brilliant game than Hoppe in practice. There is no man, nor any set of men, who can beat him in a tournament.

What is true of every other game is true of billiards. There are times when some men can play brilliantly when there is nothing at stake, but it is the fellow who can always play brilliantly who gets money and makes the championships. Hoppe is one of these. He always plays in championship form.

Has Lived Right. The reason he does that is that he has always lived in a way to guarantee constant topnotch play. He has sacrificed more, probably, than any other living billiardist, and it shows in the result.

There is no man on earth who, in the long run, can beat Hoppe at the billiard game, and he has earned the right to be the supreme billiardist of his time; he has worked for it.

Whatever success Champion Hoppe has attained at billiards—and by many he is conceded to be the greatest ballgame player of all time—is due largely to the influence of his father, now a billiard instructor.

John Henry Frank Hoppe was born in 1862 at Goshen, N. Y. His sons are Frank, the pocket billiard player, now living at Rockford; Albert, the ballgame champion, and Willie, who is in business in St. Louis.

Sons Start Game Young. Frank Hoppe was 7½ and Willie 5½ when they first started playing. Hoppe

Sr. had a combination table and the first efforts of the boys was at pocket billiards. Hoppe toured the country with the youngster, Willie then being 8. Willie took up billiards and at 10 years of age could play 100 or no count.

It sometimes has been stated that Willie stood on a box to play some shots, but his father denies this. The boy climbed on the table when he had a long reach to make.

Willie Hoppe won the shortstop championship of the world at Paris in January, 1901, and then returned home and toured with the late Jake Schaefer, winning most of his games. His next goal was the 181 championship and for six months he practiced under the eye of his father and then, going to France, electrified the billiard world by wrestling the title from Maurice Vignaux, the great French master, on Jan. 15, 1906. Hoppe won 500 to 523, averaging 20.

In fourteen years of championship play Hoppe has been beaten only twice in challenge matches, once by Sutton and once by Schaefer.

Father Student of Game. There is no greater student of the game than Mr. Hoppe the elder. For forty years he watched the leading players of the world and from this study evolved a system which is different from that of any other player.

It is this system which has given Willie his supremacy as a ballgame player. It is based largely on the method in which the object ball is hit. "Time or timing," says Mr. Hoppe, "is the greatest item in billiards." His ability in this line has been a big factor in the work of Willie Hoppe.

Twirler Loses a Game Before Pitching Ball. It is seldom indeed that a pitcher goes into the box and loses a game before he has even pitched a ball, as was the case in the Milwaukee-Indianapolis game which brought the American association championship season of 1919 to a close. Cavet entered the box in the ninth inning with the score tied and by making a balk with a runner on third base allowed the opposing team to score the winning run.

TENNIS IS NOT MAJOR SPORT

Harvard Student Council Votes Against Awarding "H" to Players—Coach Favored.

Keen disappointment was felt at the recent action of the student council at Harvard when it voted that it was not in favor of making tennis a major sport and awarding members of the tennis team the "H" honor. The council's action was a blow to the tennis team, which has been a member of the Harvard team since 1913 to a close. Cavet entered the box in the ninth inning with the score tied and by making a balk with a runner on third base allowed the opposing team to score the winning run.

Rebel Oakes Is Wealthy. Rebel Oakes, one time outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, is reported to have made a strike in oil and is said to be quite wealthy now.

the Casco Stable. But the horses that have run in his colors have been selling platters of very poor quality.

His purchase of Bally, who won the Jerome Handicap, and for which he paid $4,800, would seem to indicate that the owner of the Glants is going to build up a formidable stable. An owner with John J. McGraw of Oriental Park in Havana, Cuba, Stoneham probably thinks that he should have a few real thoroughbreds representing him on the track.

Condole With Each Other. Lee Magee and Tommy Griffith both make their winter homes in Cincinnati, and they condole with each other when they meet. Each was responsible for his being traded by the Reds last winter and as a result, each kicked himself out of that $5,200 in world's series coin.

Roumanian Racketeer a Winner. M. N. Mishu, the young Roumanian tennis player, sprung a surprise in the English tennis world by winning the finale of the men's singles at Hurlingham against S. N. Donst.

Boxing Helps Selection. It is estimated boxing sanctioned by the legislature in Michigan will net $75,000, to be divided among schools of that state for athletic equipment.

Walter Fans 18 in Exhibition. Walter Johnson recently pitched a game for the Clinton, Okla., team and registered eighteen strike-outs.

FRANK CHANCE ONCE DARED JIM CORBETT

Accused Champion of "Framing" With Kid McCoy.

Former Baseball Star Started Out With Intention of Giving Pugilist a Thrashing—Bartender Interfered at the Right Time.

The best fighters are not in the ring. Many athletes in lines far removed from the wake of the resin, could battle with more effect than some of the boys who earn their money meeting the lads in their class in the glove game.

Of all athletes in recent years who might be depended upon to give a good account of themselves in any sort of engagement, Frank Chance, famed as the manager of the Chicago Cubs a few years ago, was a real champion. He was always in first-class condition and was as game as a mountain trout.

Chance was going to whip former Champion Corbett in the latter's place of business in New York on one occasion, and only the rare presence of mind on the part of a bartender prevented what might have been a nasty encounter. Chance, with some friends, had witnessed the Corbett-McCoy fight in Madison Square garden in August, 1900. That was the bout in which both fighters were accused of having Frank Chance.

"framed." Chance paid $25 for a box seat at the show, and when it was over the Cub star was in a white rage.

He told his friends he was going to Corbett's cafe at Twenty-third and Broadway the next day to tell the former champion what he thought of his integrity, and, if necessary, he would take a smash at the boxer. He called on Corbett as he promised. Corbett met Frank with a smile on his face. Chance unloaded his criticism and decorated it with a few compliments for Corbett that swept the latter off his feet. Chance dared Corbett to raise his hands, but before Corbett could do so the bartender told Corbett he was wanted on the phone.

Some friends hustled Chance out of the place. Corbett was taken in tow in another room and the trouble blew over. The matter was fixed up a few years later, and now Corbett and Chance are good friends, although Chance has never backed down from his stand that the fight was a rank fake. There are not many men outside of the fight game who would have courted trouble with Corbett at that time.

PAID FOR DECENT BURIAL

Ghostly Visitor Who Appeared to Lucky Campers Proved to Be Man of His Word.

A good ghost story comes from New Brunswick. Two men were out camping and shooting in wild country. One night one of them awoke and saw sitting on the glowing embers of the dying fire a figure dressed in an eighteenth century costume.

"Who are you?" asked the sportsman, started. The ghost made him search in the cliff above which the camp lay, and told him that he would find his (the speaker's) bones there. He ordered him to bury them decently, and take as his reward what he found in the cave.

The figure then vanished. At dawn the two comrades set to work. They found the entrance to a cave which had been almost blocked by a landslide. Inside was a skeleton with a massive gold ring on its bony finger, and about the skeleton lay various books of dates varying from 1680 to 1685. There was also a manuscript giving the locality and description of a treasure buried near by, which the lucky finders duly dug up and appropriated.

The Complimentary Attitude. "What are your views on this subject?" "I haven't any views," replied Senator Sorghum. "My greatest popularity just now is being attained by my refraining from expressing opinions myself, while I let my constituents come around and tell me things."

LABOR FEDERATION RENAMED THURSDAY

In order to comply with the ruling of the American Federation of Labor the Grand Rapids Federation of Labor will hereafter be known as the Central Labor Union of Grand Rapids. This body is now composed of representatives of fifteen unions who number approximately eighteen hundred working people of this city. Each union is entitled to three delegates for the first fifty members and one delegate for each additional fifty members or majority fraction thereof. The musicians and railway clerks, which are expected to affiliate with the central body in the near future, will bring the figures up to seventeen locals. The next meeting night falling on Christmas it was decided to postpone it to December 30. The meeting last Thursday night was taken up chiefly with the framing of a constitution, which follows:

- Declaration of Principles.
1. While we are opposed to entering any political party as a body, we declare it our duty to use our influence with the law-making power to secure the following objects: The regulation of the employment of children and women; securing the adoption of a state apprenticeship law, by which all apprentices to a trade would be properly indentured; securing the adoption of proper laws regulating the hours constituting a day's work; reforms in prison labor to prevent the product of convict labor coming into competition with honest industry.
  2. We declare it the duty of every laboring man to use his utmost endeavor to secure the amelioration of the condition of the laboring classes generally, and to accomplish this we believe that a central organization should exist whereby all branches of labor may prove allies to any particular one that may be oppressed by capital.
  3. We hereby pledge ourselves to assist each other in securing fair wages to the laboring man by all honorable means; we shall withdraw and use our influence to have others withdraw all patronage from any employer who refuses to grant a fair remuneration for services rendered, or in any other way proves himself antagonistic to the just demand of honest labor.
  4. We declare that all existing beneficial labor laws should be rigidly enforced, especially those requiring compulsory education and the abolition of the Truck System, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to secure such enforcement.
  5. To encourage the principle of arbitration wherever practicable.
  6. We favor the self employment of labor, as only complete independence can be obtained when the laborer is no longer dependent on other individuals for the right to work; and especially do we recommend that whenever trades intend striking for the accomplishment of any just purpose, if the funds of the organization will allow it, the resistance, instead of being passive, should become active, by using the funds productively instead of unproductively.
  7. To endeavor to the best of our ability to disseminate useful information by means of lectures, debates, pamphlets and industrial literature among our co-workers.

Both teams wore on their toes every minute and in spite of the exhaustion of experience which the Granton players possessed they were unable to win from the home boys. Troop four of the Catholic church, under Scoutmaster A. C. Derard and Troop two, of the Congregational church, under Scoutmasters O. R. Roenius and Dean C. Babcock, played a curtain raiser for the Granton game, in which Troop four took the honors, the final score being six to four.

The Rapids-Granton game was one of the best that has ever been played on the local floor in spite of the fact that it was the first of the season for the local men. Granton had played and won four consecutive games this season and came here expecting to keep up their record for the season. The local team, however, were putting up a good exhibition of the game and when the first half ended the score was eight to six in favor of Grand Rapids. Granton threatened to win out in the last half when they gained a point from the earlier lead but when the game ended the local team was ahead. The game was marked by a number of fouls on both sides.

Friday the local team meets the Nekosha high school basketball team, Nekosha met Marshall last Friday night where they were defeated by a 21 to 15 score. This however, does not indicate that they have not a strong team in hand as the Marshall field team is usually the best in the central part of Wisconsin.

A dancing party followed the game Friday evening, the high school orchestra furnishing the music.

The lineup Friday night was as follows:

Menier, forward.
Millenbach, forward.
Hilberg, center.
Gaulke, guard.
Matthews, guard.

FORMER GRAND RAPIDS BOY DIES IN THE EAST.

The New Hampshire Argus and Spectator, published at Newport, N. H., carried the following article of the death of a former Grand Rapids boy, who left this city with his parents several years ago. Mr. B. J. H. Shaw was formerly pastor of the Congregational church in this city, preceding Rev. Staff in the pulpit of that church. The eastern paper says:

"Hemingway Dent Shaw, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. J. H. Shaw, of Croton, passed away in Washington, D. C., last Sunday. Accompanied by his mother and sister, he was on his way to Asheville, N. C. where he was going in hope of recovery from his wearying illness. Mr. Shaw was born in Liverpool, England, Aug. 15, 1870, and completed his early schooling there. After coming to this country with his parents, he attended the Bradley Polytechnic school, Peoria, Ill., and Armour Institute, Chicago, so fitting himself for his profession. He taught manual training many years in the Middle West and in the South, and last year in East Orange, N. J.

"Mr. Shaw was a young man of sterling character, a true Christian, as shown by his unselfish life, full of infinite kindness and thoughtfulness for others. In his person he was modest and retiring, and he was much devoted to his home. He met his sickness with a wonderful spirit of fortitude, full of cheer until the last, when he passed away so quietly and beautifully in his last sleep. Funeral services were held in the home in Croton Flat, Tuesday, Dec. 2, conducted by Mr. Yael, pastor of the South Church, Newport."

SHERRY R. N. A ELECTED OFFICERS FRIDAY NIGHT

From Sherry Correspondent.

The R. N. A. of Sherry and their families met at the home of Paul Zerneke last Friday evening, Dec. 12, and installed their officers for the coming year. They had their installation now instead of later as some of the members were going away for a time and could not be here. The Zerneke home was beautifully decorated in purple and white, the lodge colors, and plates were laid for 45. The ladies of the lodge had prepared a delicious oyster supper for the guests present. After all were served and the tables cleared away, the folding doors were thrown open and the large parlor and dining room were converted into a modern lodge room. Then followed the installation of officers. Neighbor M. E. McLaughlin took the chair as installing officer and she certainly did justice to her part. Neighbor Cara Parks was ceremonial marshal. The officers for the following year are as follows:

Oracle, Mrs. R. J. Thomas.
Vice Oracle, Mrs. Otto Zerneke.
Past Oracle, Mrs. Homer Cook.
Chancellor, Miss Marjorie Thomas.
Recorder, Mrs. Harry Thomas.
Receiver, Mrs. John Tjepkema.
Marshal, Mrs. Paul Zerneke.
Inner Sentinel, Mrs. L. S. Scatton.
Outer Sentinel, Mrs. Bert Gates.
Manager for 3 years, Mrs. Ernest Hock.

Physician, Dr. H. L. Moffatt.

The night was quite cold, but most of the members were present. Out of town guests were George E. Davis of Mercer and George A. Davis of Dodgeville, and Mr. and Mrs. George Powell and daughter Audrey of Milladore.

BOUND TO CIRCUIT COURT.

Joe Weisang, alias Joe Dawh, alleged thief of the liberty bonds taken from Dr. Mortenson's office last summer, appeared before Judge E. N. Pomsinville last Thursday afternoon for a preliminary hearing in his case. After hearing the testimony Judge Pomsinville bound him over to the circuit court on a charge of grand larceny, placing the bonds at $3,000 which he was unable to furnish. Weisang denied his guilt in the case and stated that there was insufficient evidence to even indicate that he was the man. He has been given medical treatment since his arrest here last fall, the result being that he is almost cured of his liking for dope. His case will probably come up at the January term of the circuit court.

PROF. BRANNON SPOKE.

Speaking on the "Community" Prof. M. A. Brannon, president of Beloit college, gave a very interesting and instructive address before the Sunday Evening Club at the Congregational church last Sunday. Mr. Brannon spoke of the needs of development in every community, and of the measures necessary to keep the people within that community happy, healthful and contented. Prof. Brannon spoke of the need of stimulating religious and educational life and of keeping the political life of the community on a higher standard than is the common practice.

Mrs. Dan Arpin, Jr. of Bruce, is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Jennie Taylor.

MIGHT WORK HERE.

In Kewaunee county it is proposed to use army tanks for packing the deep snow on the public highways during the long, hard winter season. Great rollers of wooden construction have been used for years past for this purpose, the only disadvantage being that the horses hauling the packer had to founder thru the deep snow ahead of it. The tank, carrying its own motive power, will do the work much more rapidly and, because of its strength, much better than was possible with the rollers, the highway commissioners believe.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mathis and daughter Frances, left Monday for California where they will spend the winter.
